

- ABOUT -

I define myself as a young architect who is gradually developing in the society of architecture. When I develop ideas for creating and visualizing a project, I try to explain the main purpose and functionality in it. For me, an architect is a person whose activity includes all kinds of tasks, the main one of them is undoubtedly an artistic rethinking of structures, as a result of which certain architectural forms and spatial compositions are formed, which are important to correctly fit into the urban and natural environment.
