Course outline	The course is intended for students taking academic training at English-medium universities. It is designed to aid students acquire a university-level vocabulary selected with cultural frequency and taught with etymology as a reference point. The framework of this course etymology is the derivation of English words from Greek and Latin roots, prefixes, and suffixes. Each new word is presented in 3 (three) different ways: in a definition, in a simple sentence, and in context. The course develops a system of logical and organized thinking through a series of numerous vocabulary exercises and high-interest academic readings. It is especially valuable for students whose purpose is to achieve professional advancement directly linked with the scope and effectiveness of their vocabulary.
