Main scientific results:

- Identification of archetypes in folklore texts and their various historical and cultural paradigms (Dade Gorgud, Oguz Kagan, Koroglu, Molla Nasreddin), including modern forms of manifestation (wisdom institute, elder, seyid, ojag, pir, etc.);

- Researching the semantic structure and image paradigms of the archetype of the Wise Old Man in Azerbaijani folklore;

- Studying the connection of folklore with modern socio-cultural processes in the socio-anthropological context and introducing new scientific-theoretical and applied directions to Azerbaijani folklore studies;

- Investigating the social dynamics of folklore (village, city, virtual world) in the context of communication processes, determining the correlative effect of socio-psychological and socio-technological factors along with environment and conditions in the process of transformation of folk knowledge;

- Based on the theoretical-methodological approaches derived from the understanding of folklore in the socio-anthropological context in the folk ("folk") and knowledge ("lore") paradigms, both in the organization of "folk" as a social institution and the content and form of "lore" identification of the role of social media technologies along with socio-demographic processes;

- Studying the changes in form and content occurring in the transition from traditional folklore to Internet folklore, revealing the specific features of Internet folklore;

- Examining the specifics of the Azerbaijan-language virtual folklore environment within the framework of theoretical and methodological problems of Internet folklore;

- Study of the dynamic nature of digital folklore resources created in new techno-cultural and socio-technological conditions, collection, classification and multi-parameter analysis of Internet folklore;
